

A Shot in the Dark Or Mass Murder by Lethal Injection

By Glenn Moore

This is our story about the murder of millions of people through the use of dangerous vaccines.

About 100 years ago, with the research of Louis Pasteur, America began experimenting with vaccinations as a way of preventing diseases, especially childhood diseases. And instead of subjecting this experiment to the usual rounds of "blind" studies that scientists normally use, they instead began almost from the start to inject live human subjects with these "concoctions" and now over 100 years later we are seeing the results of such reckless experimentation in the broken and destroyed lives of many thousands of babies, children, and adults. For those who doubt what I am saying I recommend that you keep an open mind as you examine the evidence I will present here, as well as the links to much more significant studies that will show that the human race is under constant and continual attack from the cradle to the grave--and a big part of that attack is through the apparent concern of well meaning but deceived doctors, nurses, school, and government officials.

Defending Vaccinations?

As the old saying goes, "the best offense is a good defense". Wisdom would suggest that you would not call upon a defensive end to play a key role in a ballet dance!! And you certainly would not use a stick of dynamite to stop a bug from coming into your home!! Yet that is exactly what we do in the area of medicine--we allow someone to come in with "special" knowledge to blow us away with their "impressive" degrees, and then tell us we need to use a scud missile to stop an attack by the local bicycle gang. And since we didn't go through 12 years of medical school we are not supposed to know what is "best" for us or our family--ours is but to do or die (or maybe it is "do and die"). When it comes to issues of health we are told to accept the word of "authority" because they know all about health, nutrition, and preventive medicine. Yet the average life span of a medical doctor practicing in the United States is 58 years. And the United States, in spite of all of its technological advancements, has among the highest rate of infant mortality in the entire world--more so even than some of the 3rd world countries. Do you think maybe their "advice" might be called into question? Do you think then that we should also accept their "advice" concerning the administering of vaccines, when it is also known that (according to statistics) doctors are frequently found to be among those who AVOID VACCINATIONS!! Now, here is something for you to consider which might put a fresh light on this issue--follow the links and return if you would like more proof.

Vaccines have been proven to contain poisonous substances, are unproven treatments, and experimental medical procedures. The belief that they have brought great declines in the rate of disease growth is merely a myth which has no foundation nor solid evidence to back up that claim. They are known to actually cause sickness and death in thousands of children every year--a modern day form of "human sacrifice"! And in today's society propoganda from government, medical, and media sources have deceived many people into believing that it is illegal, morally wrong and dangerous to keep your children from being vaccinated--when in point of fact it is actually just the opposite of that! Our Constitution (for those who still know what that is) guarantees us the right to "life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness". In many instances people have been threatened by law enforcement officials to force their children to receive medical attention or vaccinations which their parents rightfully believe is dangerous to the wellbeing of their children--often times with no other alternatives allowed to the prescribed course of treatment. Second and third opinions are worthless, since the entire system is flawed (it has been since medicine became a monopoly under the control of the major chemical and pharmaceutical companies at the turn of the century). Many times the "concerns" of these people are totally unfounded and have more to do with their own personal concerns over their own personal wealth. But in some instances their concerns are real, and the child may have a medical condition which requires treatment of some sort. The question then is "who decides what type of treatment is appropriate for the child?" On one side we have a vast majority of people who believe that the government, the medical practitioners, and other authority figures should make this decision. Yet it is the parents (and of course, the child) which have to live with the results of this decision. If the parents did nothing to help their children then we might be able to make a valid case for parental neglect. But what if the parents have studied these issues out very carefully and are actually more knowledgeable about the problems they are faced with than even their own doctors? (Please don't laugh--ignorance in the medical profession is a very real and a very deadly serious problem!) What if the parents have studied carefully the history of modern medicine and have come to the conclusion that although we may have some advanced forms of surgical treatment and high technology medicine available to us, at the same time the system has become fatally flawed because it is founded entirely on the wrong premises? What if the parents have learned the truth about the politics behind modern medicine? What if they have learned from reputable sources the worthlessness of chemotherapy, radiation, and surgery in the treatment of cancer? What if they have discovered that vaccines are not effective at immunizing people and are actually potentially deadly and have been linked to serious side effects, chronic illnesses, and even death (such as SIDS)? What if they have learned that pharmaceutical drugs do not really get at the cause of the disease but are only there to treat the symptoms (and often times have serious or even deadly side effects)? Do they have a choice?

According to the principles founded in the Constitution, they do have a choice! According to the way some of the laws are written today, they may not have a choice. In spite of this problem, in many instances there is still a legal remedy in place which will prevent your children from being abused by the "big brother" welfare system. The people that present these arguments of "do what your doctor orders" are themselves deceived and do not understand that what you are doing with decisions concerning your children's well being is legally and morally right, and they are the ones in the wrong for attempting to force your consent to experiment with your children. When they attempt to force this upon you by threats of imprisonment or custody issues it then constitutes an assault and a form of civil rights violation, and you then have the right and responsibility to your children to do everything in your power to protect your family from persecution--first by educating yourself to determine the truth about the modern "medical mafia", then by persuading healthcare providers and school officials that you are serious about avoiding vaccinations, then legally enforceable letters If this does not work, then you can always move to another state that is more lenient in regard to vaccinations. You owe it to your family to do whatever you can to protect your family, and may have to use every legal means at your disposal to stop them!! And of course it is up to you to decide which side of this issue you wish to take your stand. As it should be it is your family and your life and your decision. By the way--I don't believe in initiating a law suit, but if someone is trying to do you harm (either through court proceedings or coercion or personal attacks or threats of legal action) then defending yourself is perfectly legal and you should avail yourself by learning the laws of that state, the laws of this nation, and seeking the advise of qualified legal counsel.

We live in a bold new world now and the strange thing is that we now have to constantly remind those in a "position of authority" that this is the United States of America (you know, the "land of the free and home of the brave"!), and we have certain freedoms which are still guaranteed to us by that Constitution. And it won't be long before the only ones who won't have legal problems are the ones who are breaking the law--that is, the highest law of the land, the Constitution!! That may sound crazy, but if you think about it for a few moments then you will realize that this is exactly where our society here in America is headed. It seems many people today are striking out against supposed wrongs in the world in a "pre-emptive" style based upon a modern day equivalent to Roman Catholic Canon Law in which people are presumed guilty and they then have to prove they are innocent!! This flies right in the face of our most fundamental laws of due process and presumption of innocense, and it also goes directly contrary to the teachings of Jesus where he said "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you". Now the vast majority of the people have perverted what Jesus has taught and they now view life as "Do unto others BEFORE they do unto you" which could also be translated "Vaccinate others BEFORE they give you some terrible disease". That view of life used to be a joke to me--but I'm not laughing anymore, and neither are the children who have all recieved their legally mandated "shots". Some of those children have not only stopped laughing, they've stopped living also--and the doctors have given this phenomenon a vague and mysterious label as well--they call it SIDS \(Sudden Infant Death Syndrome\) (which I lovingly call "Suddenly Ignorant Doctors Syndrome" because doctors seem to know all the answers UNTIL confronted with a child who mysteriously dies soon after a round of vaccinations are given to them!!) And I have nothing against physicians--we need good physicians. But we need physicians that use their skills wisely while they depend upon faith in God to help them in their work, not a drug or a pill or some other dangerous procecedure! I now call upon all who say they are doctors to make a commitment to stop "practicing" on the people they are supposed to be helping! Go here to see my legally mandated disclaimer!!

The Sorceries of Babylon

by Glenn Moore

What do you think of when you think of the word "Sorcery"? Now if you are the average person you may well think of the word that is so often associated with "sorcery", and that word is "witchcraft"! Now if you think of "witches" as wrinkled faced women with stooped over back and stringy gray hair--better think again. "O.K.", you say, "maybe they are not so ugly anymore--but you can thank Hollywood for that." Yes, we can thank Hollywood for lots of innovative [and dangerous!] ways of looking at things in life. But whatever image you prefer to view those who practice the "blackmagic" so often associated with Devil worship, perhaps we would have better success at finding the truth if we looked at this entire matter from a primarily Biblical basis, shall we? By the way, if you read all of this you will be in for a big shock--there are many many people today practicing "sorcery" and don't even know it. In fact, you might just be one of them--but read on and decide for yourself.

A Shot in the Dark

In the Bible the word "Sorcery" is found several times in both the Old and New Testaments. In the New Testament there is a word (in the book of Revelation) which (in the original Greek language) is "pharmakeia" (translated in the King James Version of the Bible as "sorcery"). This word is the very same word where in English we derive the word "Pharmacy", and in the original text where this is found it means "poisonous drugs". The key parts of that text we are referring to reads as follows:

"Alas, alas, that great city Babylon, that mighty city! for in one hour is thy judgment come. And the merchants of the earth shall weep and mourn over her; for no man buyeth their merchandise any more. . . And the light of a candle shall shine no more at all in thee; and the voice of the bridegroom and the bride shall be heard no more at all in thee: for thy merchants were the great men of the earth; for by thy sorceries were all nations deceived. And in her was found the blood of the prophets, and of saints, and of all that were slain upon the earth." (Revelation 18:10-11; 23-24)

If we truly do believe in God, and that He has created us in his image, then we are not going to allow ourselves to be subjected to the modern day "witchcraft" being played out in hospitals, doctors offices, and the local pharmacy! Immunizations, vaccinations and drug medications are detrimental to health in the most profound way--and there is plenty of evidence in the medical journals to support this statement. The use of these poisons show a complete lack of faith in God and His way of healing, the body's own immune system. For me and my family, we believe that it is sacrilegious and a violation of our sacred religious beliefs to violate what health God has given us by the use of drugs and vaccines, which are truly a modern day form of "witchcraft".

I believe in the great number of promises by Jesus for the protection of His people. He loves us and He will take care of us if we place our trust in Him. Drugs and vaccines show no faith in God's promises.

"You must know that your body is the temple of the Holy Spirit, who is within the spirit you have received from God. You are not your own." (1st COR 6:19)

"As a consequence, your faith rests not on the wisdom of men but on the power of God." (1st COR 2:5)

"If anyone destroys God's temple, God will destroy him. For the temple of God is holy, and you are that temple." (1st COR 3:17)

The principle is simple, we are not to take poisons into our body. Even something as simple as Aspirin is known to cause side effects, some of which could be potentially deadly. Let it be understood here that there may be some products on the market which the FDA may choose to designate as a "drug", but it may or may not be. Herbs for example are not drugs, but more and more they are being labeled as "drugs" because of FDA requirements. For our purposes a "drug" is simply a concoction of a substance which is to some degree or another toxic or poisonous to the system. Standard reference editions list most "drugs" as "liver toxic". Any substance which causes harm to the body is by that action the work of "sorcery"--a drug. For those who are thinking that the "drug" they are taking does not apply, think again!! 97% or more of the products which the FDA approves as a "drug" are known to be "toxic" (poisonous) to the system--so says most hospital MSDS manuals!! In fact, many products on the market being sold as "food" are also "drugs" according to the Biblical definition. Sugar, for example, is sold as a food but it is a refined extract which is a slow poison to the system. There may be many others.

We also firmly hold to our faith in the writings and testimonies of Mrs. E.G. White as being inspired by God. In these writings Mrs. White repeatedly warns us of the dangers of what she terms "poisonous drugs"-what we believe to be a direct reference to the vaccines and drugs used both then and now by practicing medical doctors. As evidence of her teachings on this subject (which we believe in and follow) we list excerpts from some of Mrs. White's writings which confirm our beliefs concerning the widespread use of pharmaceutical drugs and vaccines:

"O how great are the possibilities that He has placed within our reach! He says, 'Whatsoever ye shall ask the Father in My name, He will give to you.' He promises to come to us as a Comforter to bless us. Why do we not believe these promises? That which we lack in faith we make up by the use of drugs. Let us give up the drugs, believing that Jesus does not desire us to be sick, and that if we live according to the principles of health reform, He will keep us well." (E.G. White, Manuscript 169, published 1902)

"The mother who has been but slightly indisposed, and who might have recovered by abstaining from food for a short period, and ceasing from labor, having quiet and rest, has, instead of doing this, sent for a physician. And he, who should be prepared to give a few simple directions, and restrictions in diet, and place her upon the right track, is either too ignorant to do this, or too anxious to obtain a fee. He makes the case appear a grave one, and administers his poisons, which, if he himself were sick, he would not venture to take. The patient grows worse, and poisonous drugs are more freely administered, until nature is overpowered in her efforts, and gives up the conflict, and the mother dies. She was drugged to death. Her system was poisoned beyond remedy. She was murdered." (E.G. White, Selected Messages, Vol. 2, p. 441)

"The only hope of better things is in the education of the people in right principles. Let physicians teach the people that restorative power is not in drugs, but in nature. Disease is an effort of nature to free the system from conditions that result from a violation of the laws of health. In case of sickness, the cause should be ascertained. Unhealthful conditions should be changed, wrong habits corrected. Then nature is to be assisted in her effort to expel impurities and to reestablish right conditions in the system. Pure air, sunlight, abstemiousness, rest, exercise, proper diet, the use of water, trust in divine power,--these are the true remedies. Every person should have a knowledge of nature's remedial agencies and how to apply them. It is essential both to understand the principles involved in the treatment of the sick and to have a practical training that will enable one rightly to use this knowledge." (E.G. White, Ministry of Healing, p. 127)

There are those who may suggest that these statements are not referring to vaccines-only illicit or possibly experimental drugs. However, notice how in this next statement Ellen White refers to the use of drugs by people for medication purposes to "avoid" "difficulties"--but the results actually bring on the sickness. By any definition of the word, a drug given to "avoid" sickness and disease would be known as a "vaccine", a drug given to supposedly prevent or "avoid" disease! And they were using vaccines at the time this was written.

"Thousands need to be educated patiently, kindly, tenderly, but decidedly, that nine-tenths of their complaints are created by their own course of action. The more they introduce drugs into the system, the more certainly do they interfere with the laws of nature and bring about the very difficulties they drug themselves to avoid." (E. G. White, Manuscript 22, 1889)

"I was shown that more deaths have been caused by drug-taking than from all other causes combined. If there was in the land one physician in the place of thousands, a vast amount of premature mortality would be prevented. Multitudes of physicians, and multitudes of drugs, have cursed the inhabitants of the earth, and have carried thousands and tens of thousands to untimely graves." (E. G. White, Spiritual Gifts, Vol. 4, p. 133)

Is it "rational" for us to use drugs to treat disease, or is it irrational? "Every effort possible is to be made to show the sick that disease may be cured by rational methods of treatment, without having recourse to injurious drugs." (E. G. White, Evangelism, p. 535) According to this statement, and by her own definition, drugs are definitely not among the "rational methods of treatment".

Based upon these statements we here affirm our faith in God to protect us from infectious diseases through obedience to His 8 laws of health and faith in Him. We also affirm our conviction that (again, based upon these statements) the vaccines and drugs in use today by practicing medical doctors are hazardous to our health and the health and well being of those around us. Instead of stopping the spread of disease, we believe that vaccinations contribute to the spread of disease and in many cases can be directly attributed to deaths in infants (commonly referred to as SIDS) and adults alike. We believe that the prophecies of Revelation 18 are being fulfilled RIGHT NOW through the use of drugs and vaccines throughout the world. For the most part, the drug industry has become a multi-billion dollar industry whose only purpose now is to self-perpetuate itself, not to save lives. The care is not on saving lives, but upon making money. But the promises of God are that one day that system will come crashing down, along with the rest of the worlds "Anti-Christ" system, which seeks to destroy or mar the character of God within the human family.

In the book of Revelation (Revelation 18:23) it explicitly states that the use of poisonous drugs would be a key issue in end time events and prophecies concerning the one world 'beast' power (which Revelation calls 'Babylon') and that to conform to the deceptions of this power (including the use of these poisonous drugs) would be considered rebellion against God's government. We believe that we are now living in the time of that 'beast' power and that part of the fulfillment of that prophecy of Revelation 18:23 is directly related to the current use of pharmaceutical drugs and vaccines. We believe in cooperating with government whenever it does not compel us to violate the laws of God and the sanctity of life. However, it is our belief that the use of inoculations, vaccinations, immunizations, and other drug medications is contrary to our religious beliefs, moral convictions, rational thinking, the inspired teachings of the Bible, and the inspired teachings as found in the many written testimonies of Mrs. Ellen G. White.

We believe we have a commission from God to prepare ourselves and others to meet Jesus when He comes! That preparation includes the physical (our health), the mental (our thinking), and the spiritual (our connection with God). This preparation is derived through obedience to the commandments of God [both the moral law of Exodus 20 and the health laws as given throughout the book of Leviticus and more systematically spelled out by E.G. White in the Ministry of Healing, p. 127]. And, of course, it also comes through our living and active faith in Jesus Christ. Our message to the world is based on Revelation 14 (the 3 angels messages) and that message includes a message of warning and hope to those who have fallen victim to the "sorceries of Babylon". And that message is simple and straight forward: "Come out of her, my people, that ye may not be partakers in her sins"

HARLEY and ASHLEE

"Dear Mr. Miller,

"I recently took our only children, Harley (2 months) and Ashlee (2 years), to the doctor for their well-baby appointments. Harley had the sniffles and Ashlee had a cold, otherwise both were in perfect health.

"Harley was given his first DPT, oral polio, and Hib shots. Ashlee received her first Hib and MMR shots, as well as her third DPT and fourth oral polio shots.

"After the vaccinations I laid the children down for their naps. Harley woke first; his thighs were red. I heard Ashlee wake and then I heard a `THUMP!' Ashlee fell flat on the floor. She cried out `Mommy, me no walk!' I checked her over and stood her up; there was no strength in either leg.

"I called the hospital and rushed Ashlee to the emergency ward. I left Harley with a responsible woman to look after him while we were away. At the hospital we waited more than 20 minutes for the doctor to finish his popcorn before he would check Ashlee. He never touched her, nor was she undressed. The official report stated that the child couldn't walk, `no other problem.'

"When we returned home, Harley was high-pitched screaming. The babysitter said it started more than one-and-a-half hours before. He was inconsolable. He finally screamed himself into exhaustion two hours later. I called the emergency ward. They recommended a warm bath and told me it was `nothing to worry about.'

"For ten days Harley's behavior changed. He barely slept, hardly ate, and seemed to be getting worse. On May 17, 1991, at 9:00 a.m., my husband got up, checked on Harley, and yelled out, `Bonnie, get up, call the ambulance. Harley is dead!'

"The state police and county coroner arrived with the ambulance. The coroner peered into the ambulance, never examined Harley, and stated, 'SIDS.' Harley was then rushed away. My husband and I didn't get to see him again for more than three days, until 1:00 p.m. on May 20, 1991 -- in his coffin!

"My adopted parents came to Harley's funeral. My father (I use that term loosely) screamed out: 'Which one of you killed my grandson?' My husband's family stays away; they think we should stop mourning for Harley and get on with our life.

"I want to mention the following points:

* The attendant giving the vaccines never mentioned the possibility of side effects when we were rushed through the signing of the releases.

* Ashlee has been to doctors since her paralysis. They never documented our verbal concerns regarding a connection to the vaccines.

* The autopsy lists Harley as a 5-week-old baby; he was 9 weeks old.

* The pathology department never received tissue samples. Also, Harley's blood arrived by U.S. mail after an eleven-day wait; it was not shipped on dry ice.

* The doctor never recorded the lot numbers of the vaccines. The manufacturers cannot help us without this information.

* An administrator at the Minot Air Force Base (where the vaccines were administered), told us: 'Get on with your lives, drop this search. It's only a baby.'

* We were rejected for compensation through the Federal Vaccine Compensation Act.

* Two U.S congressional inquiries are underway to secure information regarding our children's health care.

"What is life like today? Empty. The government is taking their time. Ashlee's medical future is at risk. We cannot even test for permanent damage yet.

"It is sad that the government does not care about our babies. They do not care that an innocent child is dead because of their neglect, and desire to pretend everything is okay. Our son is not able to rest in peace because of the bureaucratic red-tape. Harley has been dead for more than two years. When will the government stop running our lives, even after death? What is next?"

VICKI

"Dear Mr. Miller,

"I have four beautiful children. My oldest daughter Vicki is eight years old. She was born prematurely and had a birthweight of 4 pounds, 11 ounces. I have gone to great lengths to avoid what I consider unnecessary intervention in my children's health by well-meaning but misled physicians.

"I vividly remember questioning my doctors about the vaccines. It took several visits before I got the nerve to vaccinate them -- not because I was afraid of needles, but because I had a real feeling the shots weren't healthy. To my heart-wrenching regret, not one doctor offered me the list of warnings indicating which children should not be given vaccines.

"When I did allow Vicki to be vaccinated at 4 months, she got very sick that night. She screamed nonstop in a high-pitched scream. She wouldn't nurse and couldn't be comforted. Her temperature was quite high. I called the emergency number for my doctor and he told me it was very important to never let Vicki receive the pertussis vaccine again, but that I should continue with the other vaccines.

"Vicki's neurological problems were first noticed a few weeks later. She was behind in development and never did actually crawl. Her speech came in late. After several tests I was told that Vicki's seizure problems make it difficult for her to concentrate and thus learn, although she is quite intelligent.

"No one ever told me about the risks associated with vaccines. I asked, but they still did not tell me of the dangers. Almost every warning about DPT fits Vicki: premature birth; low birthweight; family history of seizures; family member with severe allergies.

"Today, Vicki has seizures all the time. Doctors say she has an 'attention deficit.' She is extremely distractible and has difficulty concentrating. When she tries to express her thoughts and feelings her eyes flutter and she stutters. It causes her deep frustration and anger. As a result, she is about two years behind in school because she has to learn in small increments.

"In spite of all this, she has a great attitude, a wonderful sense of humor, and is very athletic. We try to focus on the good things, which are many. I have great hopes for her, but I also have profound regret that somehow I could have protected her from this terrible violation of human life."

JONATHAN

"Dear Mr. Miller,

"I borrowed your book, Vaccines: Are They Really Safe and Effective? from my local library. I hope and plead that you might have some answers for me or recommend what I might be able to do or whom to speak to.

"Let me start by telling you a little about me and why I am writing you. I am 23 years old, married, with NOW only one son, Michael, who is 27 months old. Michael was 5 months old when I got pregnant with my second son, Jonathan.

"I went to the local health department to get Michael his 2nd series of shots. At that time Jonathan was only 6 weeks old. The only shot he had ever received was the Hepatitis B that they gave him at the hospital at two days old.

"When I got to the health department, the nurse gave Michael his DPT and MMR shots, and said she should go ahead and give Jonathan his shots while he was there. I said that I thought he was too young and that he had a runny nose, and I would make a separate appointment for him, but she insisted that he have them. So he got DPT, HIB, Hepatitis B, and oral polio, which personally I think is a lot of shots to give a 6 week old infant.

"She was very rough with both my children and they both screamed so much at the time of the injections that I almost started to cry. After a few minutes Michael stopped crying, but Jonathan took about 15 to 20 minutes to stop crying. He finally fell asleep in the truck on the way home. As soon as we got home and I took him out of his car seat he started screaming again. This time it was very, very high pitched, and I tried everything to get him to stop crying but nothing seemed to work.

"I put him in his swing and after about two hours he fell asleep again. I called a service we have called Ask-A-Nurse. The nurse advised me that if the crying started again and lasted two or more hours to take him to the Emergency Room.

"Besides the crying, his leg was swollen and red. If you tried to touch his toes or anything pertaining to his left leg (the leg that had the injection) he would start crying again.

"Well, six days later, December 15, 1993, Jonathan died in his sleep. He had been a very healthy child and not a bit of trouble, a good baby. The medical examiner told me that Jonathan died of SIDS, but I don't believe that and I never will. I've tried talking to [authorities], but no one seems to care. To them Jonathan was just a number. To me he is life.

"I won't take up any more of your time, but if you have any suggestions please write and let me know. Thank you so much for your time and understanding."

SHANA

"Dear Mr. Miller,

"I have four children, ages 3 to 14, three boys and a little girl. All of them had normal births and were healthy babies. When Shana, our daughter, was three months old, we took her in for her routine checkup and she was given her first round of DPT and polio shots. Soon thereafter she came down with a high fever. We were instructed to give her a fever reducer to lower her temperature. Of course we were obedient to all of the doctor's orders, trusting that with a sound medical background this was the proper thing to do. No one ever mentioned to us that we even had a choice whether or not to vaccinate our children.

"After that day, Shana developed a deep, croupy cough. Her voice got deeper and deeper. She no longer slept after breastfeeding. Instead, she would arch her back and scream as if she were in horrible pain. She lost her ability to move her stools and we had to literally go up inside of her and pull her hard stools out.

"I was told that she had problems with my breast milk. Like a fool, I put her on formula. Meanwhile, our doctor ordered X rays, barium swallows, and hundreds of dollars worth of useless tests to find the cause. Although I could hear Shana choking and screaming in the hospital rooms, I was told that I wasn't sanitary enough to go in and comfort her. My young children could also hear her piercing screams from the waiting area.

"My husband and I had no insurance to pay for this and even though we struggled to pay the bills, the hospital put a lien against our home.

"For the next six months my poor baby never slept more than twenty minutes at a time, each time waking up screaming and arching her back. It was difficult to hold her during these spells. My husband and I took turns walking the floors, feeding her, and pulling out stools. He was juggling law school and our new business; I was trying to care for the business and three other children.

"Shana fell way below normal on the growth charts and actually stopped growing throughout the entire six months. We were told that she might have Down Syndrome or a neurological disorder. We switched doctors when our pediatrician told us that she looked retarded. I know that I did not give birth to a retarded child.

"Throughout this trauma no one ever suggested a connection to the vaccines. So our new doctor reinjected Shana with the shots. There was so much unrest during this time that I can't recall how much additional damage was actually done.

"During the next several months Shana slowly started to come out of this state. After another year she started to look and feel much better. By the age of four, the only recognizable traits from these episodes were a deep, husky voice and a croupy cough. She seemed normal, healthy, and strong. But her kindergarten teacher recently informed us that it may be necessary for her to repeat class for the third time. We sent her to summer school and they suggested testing her for a learning disorder.

"Shana is now receiving the right instruction and care at a private school. In combination with homeopathic remedies, my daughter will live a full, normal life. I thank God for revealing the source of this terrible violation of human lives. I hope that others will listen to the brave few who are telling the truth about vaccinations in a world where we are taught to deny our instincts in exchange for what is socially acceptable.

"Many people ask me what I do about vaccinations now. I used to fill in phony dates on the vaccination forms so that my children could be accepted into camps, schools, etc. Now I tell the truth - that I will never again blindly trust the so-called medical authorities. I make conscious decisions about medicines, and I will teach my children the same. If my rights as an American citizen to choose against poisoning my children are ever taken away, I'll move. We really need to educate ourselves about vaccines and what true freedom means."

RYAN

"Dear Mr. Miller,

"Our son, Ryan was born healthy. I had a normal pregnancy, delivery, and birth. His Apgar scores and PKU tests were ordinary.

"At two months of age I brought Ryan to the doctor for his well-baby checkup. He was given his first DPT shot. Within 24 hours he started to change. Ryan became lethargic and fussy, ran a high fever, and had a glassy-eyed stare. The doctor `reassured' me everything was okay. He recommended baby aspirin.

"Several weeks later, after Ryan's 2nd DPT shot, his reactions were the same. He also had severe diarrhea, loss of interest in his bottle, choking, continued staring spells, and prolonged sleeping -- except when he was high-pitched screaming. Again I contacted the doctor and again I was `reassured' everything was okay. Soon thereafter Ryan developed a severe rash on his bottom. The doctor treated it as a diaper rash. I had three children previously and had never seen a diaper rash like this.

"After Ryan received his 3rd DPT shot at 10 months of age, his father and I became very concerned that something was seriously wrong. Ryan's health was deteriorating rapidly. His reaction to this shot was much more severe. He ran a fever of 106 degrees. He screamed, stared, and had severe diarrhea. His hands and lips turned blue. The site of the injection leaked a clear fluid, and his thigh, from hip to knee, was red and hot.

"Ryan's development was regressing. Although he walked at 10 months, at one year he was taking `a few steps.' What few words he previously uttered were lost. His speech just stopped.

"At 17 months, on a particularly bad day, I called the doctor in the evening to tell him something was terribly wrong with my baby. He told me `I only handle emergencies at night.' Four weeks later Ryan was hospitalized with a high fever and pneumonia. At the hospital I was told for the first time that Ryan's `choking' and `staring' that I had previously complained about were seizures. No one ever mentioned the vaccines as the cause.

"Ryan's 4th DPT shot was given at the age of 18 months. He had the same reactions as before. The next day Ryan ran a fever of 106 degrees, had seizures, and screamed constantly through the evening.

"One month later Ryan was again hospitalized with seizures. A C.A.T. scan showed an increase in head size. Still, there was no mention of what caused this.

"The medical and developmental problems continued. Ryan spent the first three years of his life in and out of hospitals. The diagnosis was made but the cause was never given.

"When Ryan was two years old a major TV station ran a show called `Vaccine Roulette.' I saw this show and was astonished that Ryan's condition and health history were a mirror image of the vaccine damages. I began to read, ask questions, and started to piece together the truth. I was now convinced that with each shot that Ryan received he was becoming more and more damaged. I was angry with myself for not knowing to ask questions, and I was angry with the medical profession for their silence on the topic.

"When I confronted Ryan's doctor (a neurologist) he gave me the standard 'benefits outweigh the risks' speech. At this time we were also told not to give Ryan his last DPT shot. This is like closing the barn door after the horse gets out.

"Ryan is now a teenager. He suffers from learning disabilities, seizures, asthma, headaches, hearing loss, and mastoiditis. He is being punished for our lack of knowledge.

"I recently attended a parent's group that was pro-vaccine. I told my story and one mother became upset because I was 'scaring' her. If you are reading this, don't feel sorry for me. Look at your own children; they're the ones at risk. I'm glad parents get scared. I hope to scare you enough to ask questions and seek the truth.

"It is too late to change Ryan's situation, but we can pass our knowledge and experiences on so that others can learn from our mistakes. Only then will it seem that the risks we suffered may benefit others."

TAYLOR BRYNN

"Dear Mr. Miller,

"On July 1, 1994 I gave birth to a beautiful baby girl after a normal 41-week pregnancy. She weighed 8 pounds, 2 ounces and was very healthy. We named her Taylor Brynn Alexander.

"On November 8, 1994 I took Taylor to the doctor for her second series of shots. The doctor said she was a very big, healthy girl, and that her mobility was that of a six month old. They then gave Taylor the vaccinations required for a 4 month old.

"Taylor screamed terribly. The DPT shot made her bleed so much that I had to change her diaper because the blood ran down her leg. I held her closely and got her calmed down. We then left. We had a 45-minute drive home. She went to sleep right after we got into the car. I watched her carefully because she had taken a few deep sighs in her sleep. There were a few times when I could not see her breath, so I put my hand on her chest and could feel her heart beating faintly. This concerned me but I thought I was just being paranoid because of my concern about giving her these shots.

"I had always been worried when any of the kids had received their shots because I heard of some terrible reactions. After Taylor had her first series of shots I questioned the doctor in depth about them. She informed me that babies run a much higher risk of complications and even death if they do not receive vaccinations than if they do. I asked her if she ever had anyone have problems after receiving these shots. She told me she had one case of SIDS pending; however, she did not see the connection between the SIDS and the shots. She said that the baby died 7 days after receiving the shots and that she didn't believe it was the shots that caused his death.

"When I got Taylor home that afternoon she just wanted to be held, and she slept a lot. That evening she was unusually fussy. Taylor woke up in the middle of the night with an unusually loud cry. She always slept with my husband and I ever since she was born, and never woke up like that before. She was all sweaty, and she had urinated so much that I had to change all of her clothes. I nursed her and held her closely and she went back to sleep.

"I began noticing changes in Taylor. She wasn't as determined as she used to be. She didn't like being in her walker anymore. She didn't try to sit straight up like she used to when you held her. She didn't want her pacifier anymore. When I did try to give it to her she gagged. When I held her up on my shoulder and rocked her she would just lay her head on my shoulder and stare. This was really unusual because the only time Taylor was still like that was when she was nursing or asleep.

"On Monday, November 14, 1994, I was at work when I received a call from my babysitter that Taylor had quit breathing and to hurry up and get home. I was only a couple of minutes away, but it felt like it took hours to get there. I ran in the door and grabbed my limp baby from the arms of her babysitter and immediately laid her on the couch and gave her mouth to mouth. Within a few moments the emergency squad got there and transported her to the hospital. I followed in my car and called my husband from our car phone. I never stopped praying until they came out and told us there wasn't anything they could have done for her. They started to tell me about SIDS but I didn't want to hear anything they wanted to say. I just wanted to hold my baby girl one more time. There she was, lying there with just a blanket around her looking as if she were sleeping, other than her blue lips. I held her, sobbed, and prayed to God to please take good care of her until I come home to be with her.

"I had heard of SIDS before, but the only thing that kept going through my mind was the case of SIDS that Taylor's doctor told me about, which was one week after he received his shots. I couldn't accept that my beautiful healthy baby just quit breathing for no reason one day, no matter what rationalization was being told to me.

"On November 29 I questioned Taylor's doctor about her death. She didn't feel there was any connection between Taylor's death and the shots. She said that SIDS was very rare and they just don't know what causes it. She said this was only the third case she had seen during her medical career, and that they have given shots to many babies.

"I still believed there was some connection, but everywhere I turned I was told the opposite. I tried researching SIDS but found no answers. Then I decided to research vaccines and found your book, Vaccines: Are They Really Safe and Effective? and another book by Harris L. Coulter and Barbara Loe Fisher, DPT: A Shot in the Dark.

"I believe I finally found the truth after reading these two books. It hurt so much to realize that I held Taylor on my lap while the medical profession shot her with these poisons which slowly killed her.

"I am so angry at the deception and lies concerning this. I feel like I need to do something to avoid this from happening to someone else, and for the precious memory of my beautiful baby girl. I am hoping you can lead me to something which I can do to help prevent this from ever happening again. I just wish someone had lead me to your book prior to Taylor's vaccinations, or that the doctor would have painted an honest picture concerning the reality of vaccinations. It is so hard to live with the truth after it is too late, especially when you are the one who took her [to the doctor], in the faith that you were protecting the precious gift God gave you, and you find out later that you did just the opposite.

"I hope you will respond to me with some paths to take. I will not sit back and do nothing, but I am in desperate need of some guidance.

"Thank you for your time and for the truth."

ANDY

"Dear Mr. Miller,

"My son, Andy, was born June 16, 1986. He was healthy and full term. He had his first DPT shot on August 18, 1986. He started screaming right away and continued to cry. He screamed and cried for the next few days, except when he fell into a deep sleep. Also, when he was awake, he now had a glassy, odd look in his eyes, as though he was looking right past us. He just wasn't right.

"I took him to the Emergency Room where I was told he was having `a bad day.' I asked if the shot had anything to do with his behavior. I was told `no.' I brought him home and knew something was wrong. I know now he suffered from encephalopathy and convulsions.

"I did not know that Andy had a reaction to his first DPT shot. After his second shot he screamed, and when we got home he went to sleep. I checked him and he was stiff as a board with glaring eyes. He had no expression on his face and I got no response. However, when I picked him up his head was floppy. I held him for 30 or 40 minutes. Then, as if nothing happened, he sat up. After this episode I noticed a lot of jerking movements. I now know these were seizures.

"About a week later I was holding Andy on my lap and his legs went out, and his tongue hung out; he had his first grand mal seizure. I took him to the doctor's office the next day, but before I got him ready to go he had several more grand mal seizures. The doctor told me it seemed like epilepsy to him and ordered EEGs and blood work. The next day, back home in his high chair, we thought he was choking on baby food. He was having another grand mal and we rushed him to the doctor. They took Andy to Buffalo Children's Hospital by ambulance. That is where we were confronted with what was wrong. The doctor asked when he had a DPT shot. I told her and she said don't get another.

"From that day on our lives were changed dramatically. We went from hospital to hospital hoping we could find something to help our son. He has been on every medication available and some that are experimental, all to no avail.

"When Andy was six months old we noticed an uncommon type of reaction. He would look at our kitchen floor and have a seizure. He could not look at screens or anything with a weave, including grass, cement, jeans, and sweaters, to name a few. As he got older I tried dark glasses on him; it seemed to help this type of seizure to some degree.

A Shot in the Dark

"The medications and diets he has been on in his last eight years have been to no avail. In 1992 he had brain surgery that helped with the patterned seizures. He continues to have grand mal clusters every two weeks. These last 12 to 15 hours; he has about 30 seizures in this time period.

"Andy is mentally retarded and has symptoms of cerebral palsy. He wears leg braces and sometimes a seizure helmet. His behavior is not good. Although he is 8 years old, he is a 1 year old in many ways. He can't dress himself or color or write or print. He goes to a special class.

"We are with Andy 24 hours a day. He cannot be alone for 10 seconds. He is a danger to himself.

"For 5 years Andy could not look at a TV screen because it was an instant grand mal. As I write this, Andy is unconscious from a bout of seizures. I have a lot more I could tell you and show you.

"Our relatives have been pretty good, but our friends are few. Our whole life is Andy. Our daughter has been showing signs of unhappiness. She misses out on a lot, but we feel she'll be a better adult for this.

"We did go through the compensation program four years ago. However, this has caused some problems for us, as Andy got his insurance canceled and cannot get Social Security Insurance. But that is another story.

"Our situation has gotten a lot worse as Andy's condition has worsened.

"Thank you for listening."

SPENCER JOSEPH

"Dear Mr. Miller,

"I read your book too late...

"My dearest son, Spencer Joseph, died 10 hours after receiving his 4th dose of DPT, HIB, and oral polio vaccines. He was 20 months old.

"I knew Spencer was dead when I heard my husband wailing like an animal. I grabbed Spencer's stiff and lifeless body and screamed, 'God, No, Not My Baby! He Can't Be Dead!' I administered CPR for 15 minutes, pounded on his chest, and yelled, 'Come Back Spencer, Come Back, Come Back!'

"Then I heard my father say over the phone to 911, 'We've got a dead baby here.' Realization hit. I opened Spencer's eyes, and he was dead. I then hugged his stiff body and emitted sounds I didn't know any human being was capable of making.

"I cannot adequately express my horror, anger, and ultimate suffering. My life turned upside down in one day, and each day that goes by I look at as one day closer to death, one day closer to Spencer.

"Why? Because they told me the benefits outweigh the risks. What does that really mean, and why are these people allowed to play God? After educating myself further [on vaccines], I realize I was lucky to have had Spencer for as long as I did.

"Spencer's death certificate said, 'Sudden and Unexpected Death; No Cause Found.'

"I have met numerous times with [the pathologist] in an effort to have [tests done to detect vaccine toxins]. He said he didn't take the blood in assayable [testable] conditions. I asked him to do an immuno-fluorescence test, and had him speak with Dr. William Torch [the medical researcher who found correlations between vaccines and Sudden Infant Death Syndrome], but [the pathologist] said it wouldn't yield anything. I asked him to do [another test], but he said they don't do that test there. It's maddening and frustrating BUT I WILL NOT GIVE UP. Spencer was so special and loving that his mama will not stop fighting until the day I die.

"Spencer was my first and only child. My husband and I are completely devastated. Now I will channel all of my anger and my ultimate, unconditional love for my precious baby, into this cause. No one should have to feel and know this living nightmare.

"I am writing to you for a couple of reasons.

"First, let me congratulate you on your courage and honesty, not to mention stamina, in writing your book.

"Secondly, anytime you need help to express your campaign against 'killer vaccines' please feel free to contact me. I joined a 'SIDS' group to deal with the pain. All the so-called 'SIDS' babies fit classic DPT adverse reactions. The [parents] are anti-vaccine for their surviving children. We have an educated group fighting to educate others about adverse reactions.

"Third, I seek permission to [share with others] excerpts from your book because I need to educate unsuspecting mothers about my horror. Please allow this.

"I am bound and determined to get the word out. I WISH EVERY SECOND OF MY EXISTENCE THAT I WOULD HAVE KNOWN! Why did I find out after the fact?

"If there is any information regarding this issue that I may give to other mothers, please send it to me. I would include a donation.

"I am not in this for money. I'm in this to keep ANYONE from living my desolation. Thank you."

BILLY

"When my infant son, Billy, was 7 weeks old I took him to the pediatrician for a well baby visit. He was given a routine DPT shot and oral polio vaccine. I was not informed of any side effects other than fever.

A Shot in the Dark

"The first night he was fussy but slept. By the next day he was crying without stopping, wanted to be held but was sensitive to touch. His breathing became very labored. I called my doctor. The nurse told me this was a normal reaction. At that time I made up my mind that he would never get another shot. He couldn't eat, he seemed to throw his head back and was in constant distress.

"On the third day I called my doctor and said I was going to the hospital -- he could be there if he liked. Billy was admitted with pneumonia and treated for eight days. Despite my doctor's assurances that he would be fine, he has had difficulties from then on. Although a wonderfully happy child, he has had numerous allergies, difficulty digesting food, and is mentally retarded.

"Since that time, I have learned the story of how this could happen, and how it continues to happen. During the same month that my son had this severe reaction, 15 babies in Illinois died from the DPT shot. The reason a moratorium on this vaccine hasn't been called immediately is a story of greed, corruption, and a fatal belief in our own technology. But the damage to children continues."

ANONYMOUS I

"Dear Mr. Miller,

"When our son was 18 months old he received his MMR vaccine. Shortly thereafter he had a seizure. We rushed him to the emergency room where he was checked over briefly, and found to have had a seizure caused by the vaccine.

"Over the next year we found that he was not doing the things that he had been doing prior to the seizure -- things like making animal sounds and the few words he had known before. The first diagnosis we got was autism, and he entered a special education program. Recently, we had another evaluation done, and he was diagnosed with sensory integration disorder. They told us that the injury may have been caused by the shot. However, to qualify for compensation under the Vaccine Injury Compensation Act, our lawyer tells us that we need a doctor who will testify that his injury was caused by the shot. Obviously this is of great importance to us. Compensation will be helpful in obtaining the special schooling and help he will need for the rest of his life. Any help you could provide would be greatly appreciated."

ANONYMOUS II

"Dear Mr. Miller,

"Six weeks ago some friends of ours lost their 15 month old daughter. She died in her sleep during the night. She had been given her MMR vaccine the day before. The parents didn't notice any change in her behavior [prior to receiving the shot] and said she had a great time playing with their three other kids the previous evening. An autopsy was done, and 12 hours after the death the coroner came to their house and told them she died from a rare type of cancer that is hard to detect. Three days after the funeral the family doctor called to say the report was not true, and it was not the coroner's place to give them preliminary reports. The doctor said they now thought it was viral pneumonia. The family asked if the shot was responsible, but the doctor said reactions to vaccines don't usually happen within 14 to 16 hours; they usually occur 7 to 10 days after being administered. What do you think?"

What do you think?
